Workers erect the repaired Camp Reynolds State Historical Marker, near the site of the camp's headquarters along state Route 18 in Pymatuning Township. The marker, which was originally put up in 1994, was hit by a vehicle in 1999 and stolen. It was missing until June, when it was recovered by Art Williams, the Camp Reynolds Project Manager, with the help of Dion Magestro. The damaged marker was repaired and put back up by Clearfield Electric, owned by Les Turner.
